HISTORY

De historiek van Hotel Damier gaat terug tot 1398. Toen was er al sprake van 'Ten Scaek', dat verwijst naar een plek waar reizigers een comfortabel bed en een lekkere maaltijd konden vinden. Daarna verbasterde de naam in het Nederlands naar 'Het Scaek' en 'Het Daemberd', wat in het Frans als 'Damier' vertaald werd. De geklasseerde rococogevel uit 1769 is een mooi staaltje klassieke architectuur en is al die tijd onveranderd gebleven.

The history of Hotel Damier dates back to 1398. At that time, there was already mention of 'Ten Scaek,' which referred to a place where travelers could find a comfortable bed and a delicious meal. Later, the name evolved in Dutch to 'Het Scaek' and 'Het Daemberd,' which was translated as 'Damier' in French. The classified rococo façade from 1769 is a beautiful example of classical architecture and has remained unchanged throughout all this time.
